ABSTRACT

This paper shows the direct and definitive link between crematory and mash systems and the sexual component of bisexuality. The innate bisexuality was earlier defined as an affective concept. The sexual component is related to crematory and mash contamination, in particular, as well as crematory and mash antigravitons. This is shown through a variety of ways.

The nexus of the innate bisexuality has been found to be crematory systems in general and their antigravitons, as well as mash systems in general and their own antigravitons. The observations have shown that the sexual component of the innate bisexuality disappears altogether with the disappearance of crematory and mash antigravitons¹. Indeed, while bisexuality has been shown to be a core element of the rachidian bulb [1], it does not necessarily mean the innate bisexuality as sexuality. It simply means the innate bisexuality as relationship to others, i.e. equalization of relations between males and females. This has been observed by treating homosexuals to bring them bisexuals by taking out alpha emitters through magnetic acupuncture [2], as alpha emitters stimulate hypersexuality [3]. It is clear that even spinning water-sodium-mash systems (the most efficient ones) may create homosexuality / bisexuality when their quality (i.e. the pro-gassing² temperament of the target) is deficient. One test has allowed to confirm that³.

In other words, the findings in [4], especially “People spending their time looking at themselves, comparing with each other, never make a positive contribution to society as a whole as they do not understand what love really is, and, as a reply, attempt to impose products of their own ego to others” are entirely exact but do not represent a call for homosexual relations as a reply as the erect clitoris’ penetrative abilities for the male anus are more appropriate – in other words the shape of the erect clitoris and the shape of the male throat, as well as of the male throat, are made for each other. Richard Layard says that comparing with others is dangerous [5]. The implicit point in [4] was about loosening up for prostatic pleasure the self-repressed. This subversive attempt included at the same time a comment about the clitoris as “Jewish nose” and ¹Black holes do not disappear because they are tied to each other. When compressive systems creating antigravitons or crematory / mash antigravitons cease to compress, the related antigravitons reach other significant assemblies of antigravitons nearby, for instance the Earth’s core black hole, the Sun’s, intervalley antigravitons, other stars’ internal black hole or Kruithne, the small black hole inbetween the Earth and the Moon.

“Jewish lips” that is key as antisemitism is a key point of the self-repressed. The clitoridian penetration of the male anus is functional and ensures perfect pleasure of both partners in a true bi-sexuality in that the clitoris is recognized as the equal of the penis in their relative erections. The “hetero” root may indicate absence of unicity, which is opposed to the equality between the clitoris and the penis. This allows to propose a better definition of bisexuality as recognition of the clitoris’ power, in its full mightiness, as able to penetrate the male’s throat and anus efficiently, allowing for full mutual pleasure. This better definition encompasses the maximum orgasm, mutual, fulfilling, responding as well to issues with primary biliary cholangitis [6] and male throat health [7].

Male to male relations were found to cause the “gay bowel syndrome” [8] [9]. It’s an example of in-adaptation of the male body to homosexual relations. This disease is incurable even with magnetic acupuncture in the bottom and cannabidiol and this was tested by one of the coauthors, confirming the Biblical idea that it is a terrible sin. The poppers is insufficient for the compensation of the pain⁴. The combination of the “Jewish lips” and “Jewish nose” profile shows both an issue with the cutting of the penis (for the prominent lips) and a demand of clitoridian stimulation (for the bent nose)⁵. But most Jews are not like that, because there is no such sexual repression in Judaism, as exemplified for instance by Genesis 2:24 [10]. In fact the relative sexual freedom in Judaism clearly explains, through Christian / Islamic condemnation of the clitoridian pleasure, the antisemitic trope of the bent Jewish nose.

In Buddhism, dakinis pose frequently with a long spear (khatanga) along with their feminine organ, and their right feet is plunging down under it. This symbolism shows another culture with a relative absence of sexual repression. The cut heads and skulls on the spear show the importance of that spear. The victims on the spear are clearly victims that are refused to even suck the clitoris lightly, as shown by their head profile with a small closed mouth and inflated cheeks. The closure of the mind to the clitoris sucking is obvious. The victims around the neck also show sexual self-repression regarding the clitoris sucking. They exhibit the same symptoms together with a long nose that shows an hostility to the smells of the feminine sexual apparatus. The Orthodox Cross also suggests implicitly an equality between the erect clitoris and the erect penis. The openness of Christian Orthodoxy to wed priests shows a significant tolerance to sexuality. Autistic males are 3,5 times more likely to identify as bisexual than non-autistic males [11]. This corresponds with the crematory-homosexuality loop [12] and with the recent findings on autism and crematory / mash pollution and antigravitons [13]. This shows again the fact that crematory and mash systems are the sole nexus of the sexual component of the innate bisexuality, since autistic individuals are likely not to understand the affective component of bisexuality in its earlier meaning, since they suffer from mind-blindness.

The demonstration that the non-affective, sexual component of bisexuality is entirely related to crematory and mash systems can be also made through the WS-PS model of Richard Layard, that leads to the same theory. Indeed, trade unions and other syndicates are likely to recourse to the gay/lesbian model because they rely on fraternity and they impose fraternity through crematory and mash systems. For instance, the TUC trade union hunted by Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher was pro-crematory ovens and that is why they were hunted to the last. The trade unions of tower control in airports hunted by President Ronald Reagan were also pro-crematory oven for airplane propulsion (the personnel was pro-crematory oven and the staff in the planes was hunted because they were thought to be communist by the tower control staff, as they were dressing usually in red in Delta Airlines planes for instance). The colour of Belgian trade unions corresponds to the chemical they use in crematory. For instance, the ABVV dresses in red and is known for mash activities⁶. The ACV dresses in standard colours and is zyklon-C, and likewise for the CSC⁷, and they cooperate. They have lots of gay and lesbian relations in-between them while they expose heterosexuality outside, confirming the argument in [4], and this demonstrates as well the point in this article. Crematory and mash guarantees by trade union services are clearly what also consolidates the health and solidarity mutual system of the country together, this consolidates the argument with the WS-PS system and the sexual component of bisexuality because the gay model of trade unions relies on the mutual services provided by them and they work on a 'scratch my back and I'll scratch yours' system, which leads to sodomy. Secondly, there is a link of dependence because diseases related to contamination with crematory or mash products (see for instance [14]) create a need for mutual services and it is in the interest of trade unions to foster a link of dependence, explaining in general the lack of competitiveness of the country [15]. In France, the CFTC trade union has also been found to have crematory-chlorine⁸ contamination⁹ and a crematory-chlorine system. The BTR-70 system seems in appearance to avoid the issue of homosexuality by creating solely a deep nausea through its boiling water mash system but in fact it may pull down alpha emitters in the surrenal glands of the kidney, causing a desire for passive sodomy¹⁰, explaining clearly the issues at the end of the 1970s with the gay bowel syndrome and the spread of the HIV. The BTR-80 system is certainly popular because it does not cause homosexuality but it creates deep problems of environmental pollution through its low plutogenization (70% less than the BTR-70) that creates lots of shuriken pollution coated in crematory matter, the worst type of environmental pollution [16] [13]. Panzer officers of the SS handling the panzerkampfwagens having a crematory rear (from the Tigre 3 onward, including the Maus and the Tigre 4 and 5¹¹) have been found to have lots of sodomy relations¹². Indeed the rear crematory push of the crematory system creates a taste for passive sodomy in the soldier next to it and sublevates the penis of the soldier on top through reverse magnet effect (positive push) [17].
